

Religious Observance

The State accommodates the religious observance and practices of employees or applicants unless such accommodations create undue hardship on the required operations. If the accommodation requires time away from work, it may be taken in accordance with the established leave provisions.

