

From the Desk of the Director

Dear colleagues,

As our understanding of COVID-19 has grown over the last several months, we have enacted new procedures and issued additional guidance to keep employees healthy and meet their needs during these unprecedented times. Along the way, we have shared communications and guidance documents to keep you informed with the most up-to-date information.

With assistance from the Department of Health, we have consolidated this information – everything from when individuals are allowed to end their quarantine and isolation to steps we have taken to keep our workplace environments healthy – in a single document attached here. One lesson we have learned from our COVID-19 response is that having timely and accurate information is critical to slowing the spread of the virus, and we hope this document is another helpful tool upon which you can rely.

Thank you for all that you continue to do for Rhode Islanders.

Brett Smiley

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "B Smiley". The signature is stylized and appears to be written in a cursive or semi-cursive font.

Director
R.I. Department of Administration